

GCT Services Inc. Announces New Partnership with HRDQ

Seoul, Korea, August 5, 2005 — HRDQ, a soft-skills resources publisher based in the Philadelphia area, has selected GCT Services as an HRDQ Distributor. Under the agreement, GCT Services is licensed to distribute HRDQ's complete line of high-quality experiential training products, which includes assessments, games, and programs for a variety of topics such as communication, sales, leadership, and teambuilding.

HRDQ, a soft-skills resources publisher based in the Philadelphia area, has selected GCT Services as an HRDQ Distributor.

For more than 25 years, HRDQ has helped thousands of leading organizations — including most of the Fortune 100 — improve performance and productivity with learning tools based on its experiential learning philosophy.

Each tool is designed to engage and involve, giving individuals the opportunity to practice skills, interact, and learn by doing. The result: participants not only remember concepts long after the training session ends — they also know how to put them into immediate action.

Michael Conforme, GCT Services CEO noted, "GCT Services has a reputation for delivering great custom training projects and providing excellent customer service. As a result, our clients often ask us about off-the-shelf soft-skill courses. This agreement with HRDQ will allow us to offer some of the premier organizational development courses on the market today, facilitated by our staff of top-notch trainers."

Bradford Glaser, President and CEO of HRDQ, was quoted as saying "HRDQ is selective in its choice of distributors just as client companies are selective in their choice of training providers. GCT Services' extensive training background and established base of quality relationships with large, sophisticated clients are precisely the qualities we look for in a distributor."

GCT Services is an international management consulting firm. GCT's professional work is done in partnership with client managers to increase profit and build lasting economic value. This involves the development and delivery of corporate training programs including leadership, teambuilding, and communications and conflict resolution.

GCT Corporate Training / HRDQ